“ What Osher Members Are Saying

“Barry and I love remote learning. Connections with other participants seem more intimate, even if we chose to just listen and not participate. Learning the Zoom technology is very easy, very user-friendly.”

– Glennie Feinsmith, Osher Member

“Osher is about education continued and shared with lovers of knowledge and life-long personal growth. Join us on this journey.”

– Paul J. Gomez, Osher Member

“Just finished another Osher class and I LOVED it! What a great way to enrich your mind and life. It is a pleasure to be with others who also love to continue learning!”

– Christine Waaijnenberg Miller, Osher Member

Director's Message

Dear UCR Osher members and friends of Osher,

Welcome to Osher at UCR's fall 2023 term. I am so pleased to be joining you all again for this membership year and appreciate your continued involvement and interest on our vibrant learning community.

UCR's Osher program has seen a lot of changes over the last 6 months. With the retirement of UCR Palm Desert executive director, Tamara Hedges, we have now welcomed our new UCR Palm Desert executive director, Agam Patel, who is uniquely qualified for this role. Many of you already know Agam, either from our special events, our programs, or through special events — because Agam had a hand in helping our center thrive ever since he began working here in 2009. He has also been an ardent supporter of Osher since day one and Osher staff are thrilled he is at the helm.

UCR Osher has also welcomed program coordinator, Rianne Bui, who is leading services to our Riverside campus Osher members under my direction. Rianne is an amazing new part of our team and I hope you will all take the chance to get to know her in class.

Welcome back to continuing Osher members, and greetings to new (and prospective) members! We are adults with wide-ranging interests in history, literature, the natural and social sciences, fine arts and special events. The 2023-2024 membership year will be an opportunity to continue rebuild Osher at UCR with in-person courses and events on both the Riverside and Palm Desert campuses. We will also offer online courses for those who prefer to learn from home or wish to continue taking courses while they are abroad. There is truly something for everyone this fall at Osher at UCR. Please help us continue to offer quality educational programming for mature adults by renewing your membership and signing up for courses today!

We know many of you remain concerned about COVID-19 and in-person courses and gatherings. Looking ahead to fall, as always, the safety and well-being of our community remains a top priority. When on campus, the use of face coverings indoors are strongly recommended for all individuals who are up to date on COVID-19 vaccinations and required for anyone who is not up to date on vaccinations.

Inside you will find a listing of the Fall 2023 courses and events to start the membership year. As John Dewey said, "Education is not preparation for life; education is life itself". I look forward to taking this journey with you...

Johnna Norris
Director, UCR Osher Lifelong Learning Institute

How Music Reflects Culture

Examine the extent to which music reflects the outlook of its host culture. We'll look at Non-Western musics such as Indian and Indonesian music, consider how Native American, Australian Aboriginal and Papuan-New Guinean song reconciles their landscapes; look at contemporary phenomena such as K-Pop, and consider how the various Western genres reflect different ways of looking at the world. Instructor, Gordan Williams

Gordon Williams has had a wide-ranging career in the arts, including as writer, editor, actor and producer. Australia-born, he has written scripts for productions of the Sydney Symphony Orchestra, including the libretto for Journey to Horseshoe Bend (composer Andrew Schultz). For the Adelaide Symphony, he produced Music is our Culture, the first orchestral work by Indigenous Australians. He has written coverage for Australians in Film's Gateway LA screenwriting competition, and reviews for OperaWire. Since 2019 he has prepared and taught at Osher Lifelong Learning centers at UCLA, UCR, Denver University and at OLLI@UHM (Hawai'i). He recently guest-lectured on Libretto at Harvard. UCR Osher instructor since 2022.

Human Genetics: What Makes Us Who and What We Are

Genes create our bodies and our minds. However, genes are not invariant – they are modified by both spontaneous and environmental forces. Learn how genes work to make bodies the amazing factories that they are, how they account for nearly all non-infectious diseases we develop, and how modern genetic science may be able to change many things. Instructor: Stephen Harding

Fred Abramson, PhD. received his A.B. in Chemistry from Western Reserve University in 1962 and his Ph.D. in Chemistry from Ohio State University in 1965. After two years of postdoctoral experience and five years in industry, he joined the Pharmacology Department at The George Washington University School of Medicine in 1972 and retired after 31 years on the faculty. He holds a long-term interest in transmitting science to the general population. He taught in continuing education programs soon after moving to La Quinta in 2004. Teaching science to non-scientists has become his passion. UCR Osher instructor since 2023.

New Development and What You Need to Know: The Role of the Citizen Planner

Cities have a major role in determining what gets built within their boundaries. California law requires City Councils and Planning Commissions to provide the public with opportunities to engage in the planning process and influence decisions about development. Explore the elements of city planning. Class attendees will be invited to submit one or two current development projects for use as case studies. Instructor: Craig Ewing

Craig Ewing served nearly thirty years as a city planner in California, during which time he served as planning director in La Canada Flintridge, Malibu, Lafayette, Belmont and, most recently, Palm Springs. He has a Bachelor of Arts in economics and anthropology from UC Santa Barbara, two years graduate study in city planning at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and a Master's in Public Administration from the University of Southern California. He has been a member of the American Institute of Certified Planners. Mr. Ewing also served three terms as an elected board member of the Desert Water Agency.

Levittown, Sputnik, and Elvis: America in the 1950s.

Most of us associate the 1950s with prosperity, the "baby boom," and suburban growth. However, this decade also featured considerable Cold War tension, a war in Korea, a civil rights struggle that was gaining momentum, and much cultural criticism of American middle-class life. Examine major developments and significant personalities in the United States between 1950 and 1960. Instructor: Bob Ellinsen

Bob Ellingsen (M.A., U.C. Riverside, 1991) taught history at the high school and community college level for over thirty years. In addition, he has taught three OSHER classes in U.S. History the last three winter quarters, dealing notable American presidential elections, the 1920s and 1930s, and the "home front" during the Second World War. What Happened to America's Trade Unions?

Trade unions were formed as a consequence of the Great Depression. Unions brought economic and social security to millions of families. Due to determined employer resistance, changes to the world economy, the unions' themselves, they now represent a small percentage of American workers. Explore the causes of this decline and what it might mean for the future of the economy and US society broadly. Instructor: Michael Hayman

Michael Hayman, M.A., taught English and American literature for more than 25 years with the goal of helping students understand the relationship between politics, economics, culture, and art. He believes "the study of history gives us hope" that we can better understand the contemporary world. UCR Osher instructor since 2018. Course Number EUV105

Religion and Politics: Distortion in America

It is doubtful that the Founding Fathers, those who established the governing organs for the United States, would recognize the animated relationship between religion and politics that exists currently. Are there causes or explanations for the existing union between many religious leaders and politicians? What has evolved to the point that arguments for a more theocratic governing state have become normative? Instructor, Beth Hall Skinner

Beth Hill-Skinner, M.A. M.A., holds degrees in International Diplomacy with specialization in transnational terrorism, and Theology. She is an adjunct faculty member at Riverside Community College, and is well known as a professional speaker and educator. Beth has been an OSHER instructor since 2007.

Dallas

On the 60th anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas, many Americans think that there was a cover-up of the crime. Following recent scholarship, discover what happened on that fateful day in Texas, as well as the preceding and succeeding days. The course will be comprised of lectures with historical images and discussion. Instructor: John Powers

John Powers has taught for several universities and colleges in their life-long learning programs since 2013. By profession, he currently is a director of narrative and documentary films. He began his career as a screenwriter. Later, he turned to performing arts as a producer and presenter of live cultural events. Recently, he returned to filmmaking. He has published several fiction and non-fiction books. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California with an MFA and BFA in Drama.

Let's Talk About Dictators of the 21st Century

Many global dictators operate within their own electoral autocracies – regimes that adopt democratic institutions but subvert them to rule. They build popular support by appearing to be a ruler who pretends to be a humble servant of the people. It's still all about the acquisition and retention of power but the techniques have changed. How did they do it? How are they fairing? Instructor: Stephen Harding

Stephen G. Harding--Since his undergraduate days at UCLA, Steve has been an avid student of 19th and early 20th century political, socio-economic, geographic, and cultural history. His academic areas of interest include comparative government, political socialization, as well as local, national, and international systems of governance. UCR Osher instructor since 2016.

LIFE Lecture Series Speaker Schedule

Mayor, Patricia Lock-Dawson

Monday, September 25
1 - 3 pm | EUV-Riverside

Mayor Lock Dawson will present on how Riverside's government is structured and how, as a chartered city, this structure is different from other California cities. She will also discuss the role of the Mayor in the City of Riverside and her priorities as Riverside's only citywide elected official. Updates on projects and initiatives happening this year in Riverside will also be included.

California Air Resource Board

Thursday, October 16
1 - 3 pm | EUV-Riverside

The California Air Resources Board's (CARB) mission is to promote and protect public health, welfare, and ecological resources through effective reduction of air pollutants. CARB is the lead agency for climate change programs.

Citizen Leadership in a Time of Confusion

Monday, November, 27
1 - 3 pm | EUV-Riverside

As dysfunction continues to strain the fabric of American society, concerns about the future of democracy have left many bereft of direction. What is the role of the citizen? How can citizens contribute to the solution instead of finding themselves drawn deeper into the problems that threaten the rule of law and political efficacy under the Constitution?

The Edward A. Dickson Emeritus/ A professorship Lecture Series

Thinking Like An Actor

Tuesday, October 17, 2023
3:30 - 5 pm | University Village 1101

Now Professor Emeritus, Eric Barr taught directing and acting, and served frequently as chair of the Department of Theatre at UC Riverside, from 1975 to 2013. He suffered a massive heart infection after surgery in 2013 to replace a valve and an aortic aneurysm. The infection further led to devastating strokes in both sides of his brain that left him paralyzed, unable to speak or swallow, and confused. During the recovery from his strokes, Barr discovered that learning to walk, talk, and function like a person again involved using strategies and processes similar to those that actors use to develop believable characters. Barr's Dickson Lecture examines the connections between acting and recovery from life changing events and how he was able to use actor training to help reconstruct himself after losing speech, movement, and many cognitive abilities.

The Edward A. Dickson Emeritus/a Professorship Award is presented yearly to three retired UCR faculty to support their work on compelling projects in teaching, research, or public service activities. Edward A. Dickson served as a Regent of the University of California from 1913-1946, the longest tenure of any Regent.

In 1955 Mr. Dickson presented the University with an endowment to provide for annual special professorships for retired faculty. In 2003 the funds for the Dickson award were separated into ten endowments, one dedicated to each campus.

On the UCR campus, award oversight and evaluation is performed by the UCR Academic Senate Committee on Faculty Welfare, whose membership includes active and retired faculty. The Committee evaluates the merit and significance of the proposals and the nominees' previous contributions in the areas of teaching, research and service. Each emeritus/a professor receiving support from the Dickson endowment is known as an Edward A. Dickson Emeritus/a Professor for the duration of the award

Why Teach an Osher Course?

“Teaching ‘All Science Considered’ encourages me to think more deeply about the impact our topics have on our society. Class material should answer questions such as: “Why should participants be interested in a particular topic? And how it might affect their lives or the lives of their family?” I receive great enjoyment and satisfaction from both the preparation and the in-class interactions.”

— Michael Luther,
UCR Osher instructor
since 2016

Share Your Expertise

The Osher program attracts current and retired faculty from University of California, Riverside, retired faculty from local and national colleges, and distinguished community leaders and other experts who enjoy sharing their knowledge and joy of teaching with our members. Classes are offered in Riverside at the UCR Extension University Village (EUV) and in the Coachella Valley at UCR Palm Desert Center.

WANTED: mind-expanding ideas and discussions on a variety of topics.

Learning Formats Available

Lectures: Tuesday lectures series on timely and engaging topics. (Riverside location only at this time)

Courses: Multi-session, academic courses in a wide array of topics and delivery modes from in-person classroom instruction to remote delivered interactive instruction and demonstrations.

Field Trips and Study Tours: On site exploring and learning about cultural, historical and architectural events locally and internationally.

Special Events: Includes campus department lectures, and fun and entertaining events open to members and the general public.

Lunch Bunch: Another way for members to engage in cultural experiences through food while enjoying a meal together.

Workshops: Range from successful aging, financial wellness and creative activities.

If you enjoy teaching and sharing your knowledge, visit our website at palmdesert.ucr.edu/welcome-ucr-osher to submit a proposal. Proposals are accepted for the fall, winter, and spring quarters. For the fall quarter, submit in April; for winter, submit in August; and for spring, submit in November.

MODERNISM 101 LECTURE SERIES

FREE PROGRAMS IN PARTNERSHIP WITH THE PALM SPRINGS MODERN COMMITTEE

6 p.m. Nov. 14

From Bauhaus to Our House – Midcentury Modernism in the Coachella Valley

Speakers: Joan Gand and Mimi Fisher

How did the Coachella Valley become a living museum of desert modern architecture? Who are the architects that created the unique collection of desert modernism here in our valley? PS ModCom will present an informative, entertaining look at the principles of design that rocked the world of architecture.

6 p.m. Dec. 12

Albert Frey and the Birth of Desert Modernism

Speaker: Peter Moruzzi

Swiss-born architect Albert Frey (1903-1998) originally worked for master architect Le Corbusier in France, assisting in the design of the Villa Savoye. In 1930, Frey secured a job with architect A. Lawrence Kocher; one of their commissions was a building in Palm Springs. His subsequent work includes the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway Valley Station, Palm Springs City Hall, and what is now the Palm Springs Visitor's Center), among others.

6 p.m. Jan. 9

The Alexander Homes Bring High Style to the Coachella Valley

Speaker: Chris Menrad

Learn about the innovative family business that built more than 2,000 Desert Modern homes in the Coachella Valley. Their lead architect, William Krisel, created an iconic modern style that was affordable and easy. Charles DuBois and Donald Wexler continued to innovate with the Alohaus A-frames and the Steel Houses.

6 p.m. Feb. 13

Mid-Century Modernism in Rancho Mirage, Palm Desert, and Indian Wells

Speaker: Karen Prinzmetal

Learn about the magnificent modernist architecture that abounds throughout Rancho Mirage, Palm Desert, and Indian Wells, like Sunnyslans, a modernist tour de force by A. Quincy Jones, Sandpiper condominiums by William Krisel, the Wave House by Walter White, and other standouts that dot the mid-valley.

6 p.m. March 12

Midcentury Modern Fashion Then and Now

Speaker: Trina Turk

Trina Turk will discuss the impact of Modernism on midcentury fashion, and how this rich history inspires her current collections. The presentation will touch on the practical American approach of Bonnie Cashin, the space-age stylings of Pierre Cardin, the important print houses Marimekko, Vera and Pucci, and more.

6 p.m. April 9

Arthur Elrod—Desert Interiors Go Modern

Speaker: Adele Cygelman

Arthur Elrod not only introduced the desert to modern furniture and lighting along with cutting-edge technology for the home, he also worked alongside the local architects who were turning Palm Springs into an international resort.

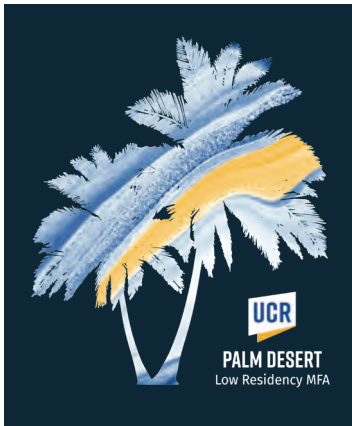

Each lecture will be held at UCR Palm Desert, 75080 Frank Sinatra Dr., Palm Desert
